Yes and I'll agree with that as well. In the far sides of that deep drive for sex, men will do some very shitty things to get that.

Do you like hate love or something

I do not hate love. I am logical and base a lot of what I experience in this world off of logic. Most rational men do not just go off of how they feel about life. Irrational emotional men are the ones most likely to be shitty and abusive with women. So I advise you stay away from the guys that use passion/love to justify how they treat you

It makes me very non romantic, yes. But I don't need to romantic with you Jess, you don't love me lol woman's past.

You have no past so you're fresh

People think virgins at certain ages are weird

It's weird if you're a visually pretty woman who says " I'm waiting for marriage....still" and you're over 30

Because if you're young, attractive and a virgin, by 30 you should have met someone worth either marrying or being serious enough to have sex with by that point

If not, it means either your standards are crazy high or you're off and unstable

So when I mean sitting on a gold mine

I mean, you have the looks and the appeal to pull any man you want
